

Igloos celebrate winter fun in Grand Falls

Winning teams

Standing proud on the ice podium, last year's silver medal winner captured the gold. Restigouche Construction's team came out on top with their igloo which looked like the head of a seal. Falls Construction won the silver medal and SNC-SNAM from St-John, NB took the Bronze. (Heidi Cyr Photo)

Official measurements

Measurements were adjudicated by Mike Allen, MP for Tobique-Mactaquac and Ronald Ouellette, Minister of Agriculture and Aquaculture and MLA of Grand Falls, Drummond and Saint-André. They are standing with Eric Ouellette initiator of the project and the competition. Results will be sent to Guinness to be recorded. (Heidi Cyr Photo)

Gold medal winner

This igloo, shaped like a seal's head, was built by Restigouche Construction and won the Gold medal of the igloo building competition held in Centennial Park in Grand Falls. (Heidi Cyr Photo)

JCS Igloo

John Caldwell School's igloo sustained the strength test, holding up two truck tires with a total weight of 500 pounds. (Heidi Cyr Photo)

Strength test

Every igloo built in the APEGNB Igloo building competition held on Feb. 15-17 sustained a strength test where two truck tires weighing 250 each were placed on the dome of the igloo. All seven igloos in the competition pass this rigorous test. (Heidi Cyr Photo)